ACCOUNT SUIT IS AGAIN HEARD

Case Involving Sale of Cream Separator Starts For Second Time Before Jury.

THRALL MADE DEFENDANT

Judge Sparks Overrules Motion For
New Trial in Kinsley Case
and Appeal is Taken.

The case of John E. Patton against Jack Reed, on an account demanding $75 was being heard today in the circuit court before a jury. It is the second time the case has been tried, the first time the jury failing to reach a verdict.

The case involves the sale of a cream separator by Patton to Reed.
The costs of the case have already exceeded the amount demanded.
Patton, at the time of the sale was in the hardware business with Curtis Thrall and sold the separator to Reed. Reed refused to pay for the machine setting forth that it did not work as represented, was not nearly so good as the hardware men would have him believe.

After the jury had been impanel-led a motion was filed by the plaintiff to make Curtis Thrall a party defendant and to answer as to his interest. The jury was excused for the time being and an amended complaint filed in which Thrall was made a defendant. The case was resumed again this afternoon. The jury hearing the case is composed of the following: W. P. King, J. P.
Bales, Willard Myers, C. W. Hinkle,
Bruce Graham, A. M. Hodges, William Cross, D. C. Aldridge, Claude Guffin, J. H. Wynn, Mauzy Bebout and J. A. Jones.

Judge Sparks found for the plaintiff in the suit of Albert Reinken against Nancy E. Voglesong, on a note to foreclose a mortgage. The court awarded Reinken judgment for $466.30 and ordered the mortgage foreclosed.

Judge Raymond Springer took the case of John Le Sneur against A. P.
Walker and A. L. Winship under advisement yesterday after hearing the argument. The case involves an account LeSueur alleges Walker owes him for cattle purchased in Jersey. He demands $3,000. The case was heard some time ago but the argument was not made until yesterday.

Judge Sparks this forenoon overruled a motion for a new trial in the case of the State against A. E. Kinsley, convicted on a charge of the illegal sale of intoxicating liquor.
Kinsley's attorneys gave notice of an appeal to the supreme court and the bond was fixed at $500, which Kinsley furnished.

TWO KILLED IN AIR RAID

Zeppelin Again Visits England Forty Miles From London.

(By United Press.)

London, May 27.—A Zeppelin airship passed over a small town forty miles east of here at eleven o'clock last night dropping a score of bombs. One woman was blown to pieces and another woman killed. A child was seriously injured. Five buildings were set on fire. British airmen pursued and drove the raider out to sea.

The Zeppelin escaped. The official statement says "little material damage was done."

CARTHAGE MAN INJURED

William Kiser Suffered Broken Leg
When Barn Collapsed.

William Kiser, of Carthage, sustained broken leg and other injuries when a barn on the N. C. Binford farm, near Charlottesville, which he was helping to raise, collapsed. The barn was raised to place a cement foundation under it and was three feet off the ground.
Without warning the barn gave way and collapsed. Several men were working on the barn and all escaped except Mr. Kiser. He was buried under the heavy timber and his right leg was fractured above the knee.

TOTAL REACHED TWENTY MILLION

Value of Poperty in Rush County,
as Was Expected Advanced
Over One Million in Value.

ALL ASSESSORS REPORTED

With all the township assessors reporting, a gain of $1,074,227 in taxables is shown as a result of the work of assessing this year. The assessors of Posey and Noble township, reporting today brought the total to this sum. The figures are quite interesting.

It was predicted that the increase in value would be over a million dollars and this amount was figured on in the auditor's office when it was decided to advance the assessments ten per cent. The total value of property, both real and personal in Rush county as given in the assessors' reports is $20,146,158. In 1914 this value was placed at $19,- 061,931. This great outlay of wealth is distributed about equally over the county and there is hardly a township that does not have property over the million mark.

CLARK IS BOOKED FOR CHAUTAUQUA

Speaker of National House Will Take Elbert Hubbard's Place
on Local Program.

TO APPEAR HERE AUGUST 6

The program committee of the Rush County Chautauqua closed a deal yesterday whereby Champ Clark speaker of the House of Representatives, will take the place of the late Elbert Hubbard on the program of the chautauqua here.

The program committee has been trying ever since the news reached here that Elbert Hubbard had perished in the Lusitania tragedy to secure a suitable person to take his place and believe they have succeeded when they booked the Missouri congressman. Clark has never appeared here on the chautauqua platform and he should be a great drawing card. Final arrangements were mde late last evening by wire.
Clark will appear here in the afternoon of August 6.

PHYSICIANS MEET.

A number of physicians from this city were in Cambridge City today attending the annual convention of the Sixth District Medical society.
Dr. J. C. Sexton was on the program but it was doubtful if he would attend on account of a call to Anderson early this morning.

COMMENCEMENT FRIDAY NIGHT

Class Address Will be Delivered by Dr. Ernest Wray Oneal, of Chicago.

TITLE "POPULAR FALLACIES."

Harpist Will Play and B. F. Miller
Will Sing Solo—Seats Placed
on Sale Today.

The annual commencement exercises of the Rushville high school will be held tomorrow night in the auditorium of the Graham Annex. A fine program has been arranged and the speaker of the evening is a popular high priced orator, Dr. Ernest Wray Oneal, of Chicago.

In securing this speaker the committee departed from the usual course of securing a college president or professor, believing that a popular lecturer at popular prices would be more pleasing. Dr.
Oneal is under the auspices of the Redpath lyceum bureau and his subject tomorrow night is "Popular Fallacies."

Miss Blanche Clarke of Indianapolis, an accomplished harpist will furnish the music for the commencement exercises and B. F. Miller will sing a solo. The commencement exercises will start at eight o'clock.

Dr. Oneal is a new man to Rushville, but from the recommendations and comments by the press all over the country he should more than please his audience here. He is said

ERNEST WRAY ONEAL

to be a brilliant orator and at times is eloquent, but in a modest way, as he does not strain for a moment in rhetorical flight. He is said to have the happy faculty of immediately creating interest, which he holds throughout the entire lecture without apparent effort. He vividly presents his story and from all advance notices is sure to captivate his audience. His address "Popular Fallacies" is said to be his best effort.

The commencement Friday night will mark the close of a week of activity on the part of the senior class and will close a four years of work in the local school.

The seat sale for the commencement exercises went on sale this morning at the Hargrove and Mullin drug store.

CHANGE OF TIME.

The Pennsylvania passenger train number 218 south bound due here now at 3:20 in the afternoon, and the north bound morning passenger due here at 10:10, will change time beginning next Sunday. The afternoon train will come twenty-five minutes earlier, arriving here at 2:55, and the morning train will arrive at 10:25.

FIGHT TO KEEP HIM ON BENCH

Resumed Today in Supreme Court
When Demurrer to Complaint is Argued by Attorneys.

CLAIM NO JURISDICTION

Alleges Proceedings Should Have
Been Brought as Impeachment
Act Before Legislature.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 27.—The Indiana Supreme Court overruled the demurrer of attorneys for Judge Eli Redman of Vigo county, to the information filed by Attorney General Milburn today. The information asked for the impeachment of Judge
Redman, who is one of the convicted Terre Haute conspirators now serving time in Leavenworth.

Attorneys for Redman then filed an answer asking that the information be not considered because Red-man's case has been appealed to the circuit court of appeals in Chicago.
Milburn filed a demurrer to this answer, which was to be argued this afternoon.

Judge Redman was elected, according to the returns, by a majority of ten over Charles Pulliam, the republican candidate, at the November election in Terre Haute. The election was contested and the contest is pending. Meanwhile the Federal court took up the charges of fraud with the result that the election corruption conspirators, including Redman and former Mayor Donn M. Roberts, were lodged in Leavenworth prison. It was to "put Redman over" that the conspiracy was formed.

Briefs that have been filed by Redmond's attorney's argue that because Redman has never been convicted by an Indiana court, nor tried before an Indiana jury, the supreme court does not have jurisdiction in the case and should sustain the demurrer. The United States court for the district of Indiana (Judge Anderson's court) is a court of foreign jurisdiction, according to the briefs, and for the supreme court's decision would be to act against Redman without giving him a fair trial in the State of Indiana.

The brief outlines, what it says would be the proper way to bring impeachment proceedings against Redman. Charges should be preferred by the Indiana House and a hearing should be given by the Senate, which would act as a court of impeachment, according to the brief.
Should procedure would allow Redman to be Circuit judge and draw the salary for two years at least while occupying a cell in Leavenworth, unless in the meantime the contest filed by Pulliam would be successful.

It was conceded that in case the court overruled the demurrer there would be little left to do other than to prepare an order ousting Redman.

NO DECISION IN SIGHT.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 27.—Further delay in the five per cent.
freight rate increase hearing has been asked by the railroads of the state. The petition now before the public service commission is dated July 1. Although the roads of Indiana have compiled new tariffs to take effect June 1, these tariffs will be withdrawn until after the July hearing.

—Jesse Higgins, local Pennsylvania agent, and D. C. Alen, the Falmouth agent, will go to Columbus tomorrow to attend a meeting of the Louisville Division agents. A new accounting system will soon be installed on this division.

ger of being surrounded.

ARM TORN BY COGS OF CONCRETE MIXER

Henry Turner May Lose Member as Result of Painful Accident Near Milroy.

TAKING GRAVEL FROM GEARS

As the result of his arm being caught in the gears of a concrete mixer, Henry Turner, of near Henderson, may lose his right arm. The accident occurred this morning east of Milroy, where Turner, who is connected with the firm of Turner and DeMoss, was engaged in placing some concrete bridges on the Spurgeon road, for the contracting firm of Wilk and Company.

Mr. Turner was working with the concrete mixer and when some gravel got in the gears he reached over to knock it off and his sleeve caught in the cogs. Before the engine could be stopped Turner's hand and arm had been pulled into the cogs. The arm was badly lacerated almost up to the shoulder and the attending physician stated, the accident was quite serious. He was taken to the camp of the construction company and will be removed to his home Friday.

HAD JUST TAKEN DOWN THE FLAG

Nebraskan Captain Reports That Stars and Stripes Were Not up
When Explosion Occurred.

WORD SENT TO WASHINGTON

Incident Likely to Remain Unsolvable Mystery According to Administration Officials.

(By United Press.)

Washington, May 27.—The American steamer Nebraskan that was damaged yesterday by a mine or torpedo was not flying the American flag when the explosion occurred.
Those on board refused to comment on what caused the explosion. This was made plain today in a message to the state deprtment from Consul General Skinner at London, who calbled the report of Capt. Green of the Nebraskan.

"It was dusk when the explosion occurred. The flag had been hauled down five minutes before. The name of the ship was painted on both sides in letters six feet tall. We had no warning and saw nothing." Those were the important statements in the report.

"Had no warning and saw nothing."

The administration officials said this was the most significant thing seen in the report.

It was taken as declaring an uncertainty which promised to make the incident an unsolvable mystery.
If the ship was torpedoed by a submarine it was agreed that the attack was an act of war. Officials admitted as much after examining precedents.

It was admitted however, that there was no evidence as yet that this had happened.

SUBMARINES ARE AGAIN VERY ACTIVE

Montreal Steamer Morwenna and British Boat Betty Both Sunk
by Germans Yesterday.

BOTH CREWS ARE RESCUED

(By United Press.)

London, May 27.—The Montreal steamer Morwenna was torpedoed yesterday, according to a report made public today by the admiralty.
She was bound from Cardiff to Sydney and was attacked by a German submarine 160 miles west of St.
Ann's head.

The submarine tore a great hole in the side of the vessel and then opened fire, shelling her for several minutes. One member of the crew was killed and the remainder escaped in the boats and were picked up a long while afterwards by a Belgian boat and landed.

AND STILL ANOTHER

(By United Press.)

London, May 27.—The admiralty announces that the British steamer Betty was attacked by a German submarine in the North Sea yesterday.
The crew was rescued and landed safely.

DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION

Our remedy is acceptable to the most delicate stomach, and the use of one box is usually sufficient in many of these ailments. There are hundreds of cases diagnosed as disease of the heart, where probably less than ten really exist; ninety are due to the stomach and digestive organs, the heart acting in sympathy. Read This Letter:

"Several years ago I called on Lane & Evans to buy a pump and they almost forced me to buy one of your Fig. 28 Red Jacket Double-Acting Force Pumps and fifty feet of hose when I only intended to buy a cheap set length pump. Mr. Lane put up such strong argument on 'fire protection' that I followed his advice and bought the Fig. 28, little thinking that it would be of any service to me in that respect.

Shortly after the pump was installed, my barn caught fire and had it not been for this pump and hose and the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Barnett, my barn, house and all buildings on the place would have been destroyed."

A very beautiful wedding took place this afternoon at two o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Fischer in Falmouth, when their daughter, Miss Freda was united in marriage to Chester W. Saxon, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Saxon. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate family, and was performed by the Rev. G. F. Powers, pastor of the Fairview Christian church. The bride wore a coat suit of sand color silk poplin. Miss Doris Saxon played the wedding march. Mr. and Mrs. Saxon left on a wedding trip to Indianapolis. A shower was given yesterday for the bride by Mrs. F. R. Jeffrey, Miss Sylvia Nelson and Miss Mariam Frye, at the home of Miss Frye. Fifty guests were present, among whom were Mrs. Charles W. Wright and Mrs. Roscoe Ward of this city.

The annual reception, given to the out-going class of the Rushville high school, was given last night by the Juniors in the Graham building. The Juniors proved to be good entertainers. The corridors were artistically decorated with the class colors of both classes. The Seniors have as their colors yellow and white; the Juniors pink and green. Boughs and leaves were used extensively in carrying out the color designs. The electric lights were covered with jap lanterns, which added to the scenic beauty. The many different class rooms were used for rest rooms, and were nicely decorated with college pennants, and the class colors of the two classes. One of the rooms was used to serve refreshments of ice cream and mints. The cream was yellow and white and the mints were pink and green. Punch was also served in the corridor. In the way of entertainment, Miss Norma Smith and Miss Frances Frazee gave several well chosen selections. An Edison machine also furnished music. The Junior class officers are, Forest Jones, president; Dorothy Wright, vice president; Phylis Dean, treasurer and Harry Schmalzel, secretary. The Sponsors of the class are Miss Nelle Baldwin and Nathan Coyle.

WORD IS USED CARELESSLY

Construction of Term "Suitable" in Tariff Act Plunges That Part of Law Into Uncertainty.

IS BEFORE CUSTOMS COURT

This is Typical Example of Inexcusable Blundering of Congress—What Old Law Said.

Washington, D. C., May 27.—A typical example of inexcusable blundering by Congress in the enactment of a statute has been argued recently before the Court of Customs Appeals. The court is asked to interpret the meaning of paragraph 408 of the Underwood tariff act, the first important law of the present administration.

The paragraph provides free entry for "waste" of any of the articles therein described "Suitable" for the manufacture of paper. Careless use of the word "suitable" in drafting the law plunged it into uncertainty, for it admits a wide latitude of construction. Will free entry be given to anything that might be used in paper making; or must waste be used only in paper making in order to enter free of duty?

Already two opposing constructions have been placed upon the statute, one by customs officials who imposed a tax, another by the Board of U. S. General Appraisers who allowed free entry. Now the higher court is appealed to for a third opinion as to the intent of the law makers.

The blunder is more notable because the language of former tariff acts was an ample guide, clearly emphasizing the need for unequivocal dictation. The act of 1897 provided free entry for waste "Fit Only" to be converted into paper. The corresponding paragraph in the 1909 act extended free entry to waste "used Chiefly" for paper making.

With these provisions in the old law, it seems as though intelligent revision would have been simplicity itself. But with their fatal gift of blundering the Democrats seized upon and inserted "Suitable" in the law, the one word that neither customs officials, lawyers nor business men affected could understand, and which rendered imperative the litigation now in the courts before the statute can be finally enforced.

Principle Not Applied.

A striking illustration of the inability of Democratic leaders to base their policies upon fundamental principles, is found in the columns of the Oregon Journal, the leading Democratic paper of the Pacific Northwest, which comments upon the fact that "the gates of Europe are barred against American tourists and $286,000,000 will be saved to this country thereby."

The Journal says that: "Instead of being taken out of America and spent in Europe, this money is being spent this year in the United States, which means that the sum is doubled in its effects at home. Do you realize what the changed status means directly to every railroad, every coastwise, lake and steamer line, every hotel, every summer boarding house, every garage, every automobile dealer and repairer, and do you realize what it means indirectly to every resident of America?"

And yet the Journal and its Democratic co-laborers cannot see that exactly the same principle is involved in the question of a protective tariff. In January, 1913, the United States sent abroad something like a million and a half dollars for breadstuffs. That was under a Republican protective tariff. In January, 1914, under a Democratic tariff, the United States sent abroad more than five million dollars for similar commodities. That was an increase of three millions and a half for a single month on one line of commodities.

Every school boy can "realize what the changed status means directly" to every producer of breadstuffs, to every manufacturer who is selling goods to the producer of breadstuffs, to every hardware man, to every clothier, to every lumberman, to the butcher, the baker, and candlestick maker.

In January, 1913, under a Republican tariff, the United States sent abroad nearly a million and a half dollars for manufacturers of wool; but in January, 1914, under a Democratic tariff, we sent abroad more than four millions and a half, an increase of three million dollars on this one commodity for one month in the year.

This was a direct loss to the men who work in or operate the woolen mills of the United States. Those men are buyers of American products, patrons of American laundries and barber shops, buyers of American newspapers, consumers of American food, employers of American carpenters, cobblers and bootblacks. Their buying power was reduced $3,000,000 in 1 month.

Let us look at the totals for January in the two years. During that month in 1913, the United States sent abroad for 36 specified imported products, more than $27,000,000; while for the similar month in 1914, there was sent abroad $43,000,000, or an increase of $16,000,000 for the one month.

Commenting upon the $286,000,000 formerly spent in Europe by tourists and now retained in the United States, the Democratic Journal says:

"It does not take much of an imagination to grasp the meaning of the enormous sum thus to be spent, not in a far country, but among the people of the United States. It takes no exaggeration of the facts to picture the prosperity that it spells for thousands."

But those words apply to money spent for commodities just as strongly as to money spent by pleasure seekers. Money spent in America for American products gives profitable and useful employment to millions of industrious, thrifty, patriotic citizens. "The sum is doubled in its effect at home."

No stronger argument need be made in behalf of a protective policy for the United States than is found in the language of the Democratic periodical which grows so eloquent over the expenditure of tourists' money in America instead of in Europe. If those who have been accustomed to vote the Democratic ticket, thus inviting Americans to spend their money for the employment of foreign labor and foreign capital abroad, would be fair enough to acknowledge the application of the same principle to the purchase of commodities that applied to expenditures for travel, there would never again be the remotest possibility of the election of a Democratic President and a Democratic Congress.

The Saving War.

"If it had not been for the war, foreign cheap-made goods under a Democratic free trade tariff would have absolutely overwhelmed the country, and poverty and idleness and want would have been far greater than they are today. While our imports have increased, our revenues have decreased. The falling off of the revenue is not due to lack of imports, but to lack of tariff. The advantage of the tariff is now going to the foreigner, and the American people are paying a direct tax to make up this sum that a Democratic administration has given to our foreign rivals."—Congressman W. E. Humphrey.

Marse Henry Watterson is clearly out of patience with some of the so-called leaders of his party—as is shown by his comments on the Lusitania incident. "Mr. Stone of Missouri for example," he writes. "He who rattles around as chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the Senate, is as flabby as his own gumshoes." And of Bryan in this emergency Watterson says the administration "is most vulnerable in the Department of State."

For the first two years of Mr. Wilson's administration there were thirty-five thousand commercial failures. This number is some ten thousand in excess of similar failures during the first two years of Taft administration. The total liabilities involved in the commercial failures during the first two years of the Wilson administration amounted to seven hundred and sixty millions of dollars. The total liabilities of the commercial failures in the United States during the four years of the Taft administration amounted to six hundred and forty millions, one hundred and twenty millions less than for the two years of Wilson rule.

Chicago, May 27.—Secrecy today surrounded the visit to Chicago of Governor Charles H. Whitman of New York. Republican leaders here would not say what his mission was but it was reliably reported that he was looking over Chicago as a possible battleground on which to stage his fight for the G. O. P. nomination for President. Whitman, admittedly has presidential aspirations and it is understood he will confer with a number of Illinois and Middle Western Republicans here today.

While in the city he is the guest of Fred W. Upham, prominent in G. O. P. affairs. A luncheon which was attended by many prominent politicians was tendered him at the Chicago club today.

Meanwhile, while Whitman's friends were flocking about him, the boosters of Congressman James R. Mann were not idle. They circulated among prominent Republicans putting in a kick for Mann's candidacy where ever possible.

Any two-cent politician of the Democracy can get into the newspapers nowadays by arising to predict the re-nomination of Wilson.

HOOSIER HISTORY

(Prepared by the United Press from Records in the State Library)

Among the more recent Indiana novelists are Lew Wallace, Charles Major and Elizabeth Miller. All three of these writers chose to write foreign historical novels.

General Lew Wallace began with "The Fair God" a story of Mexico at the time of Cortez. General Wallace was one of the Indiana leaders in the Mexican war and his service in the Southern country was the inspiration of his work.

During his service as minister to Turkey under President Garfield he wrote "The Prince of India" a story of Constantinople during the Turkish occupation. "Ben Hur" a religious novel rivaled the sale of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The Co-operative Tire

Goodyear has always built co-operative tires. Every saving has gone to the user. The more men bought the better we built them, and the lower we sold them.

That is why Goodyear has held top place, outselling any other tire.

3 Reductions

Note that in two years we made three big price reductions. The last—on February 1st—brought the total to 45 per cent.

Yet in costly ways these tires have been bettered. In not one iota were they ever skimmed.

Our Fortified Tire is still "On-Air" cured to save blow-outs. Yet that one extra costs us $450,000 yearly.

It still has our No-Rim-Cut feature. It has in each base 126 braided piano wires to make the tire secure. It embodies hundreds of rubber rivets, formed to combat loose treads.

Our All-Weather tread is still double-thick. It still has the sharp, tough, resistless grips.

Those extras—all exclusive to Goodyear—are all retained, despite our price reductions. And we still spend $100,000 yearly to discover new ways to better them.

Your Ally

In all these ways, Goodyear is your ally. You do injustice to yourself when you fail to secure this advantage. Never in tire history was such value given as you get in Goodyear tires today.

No smaller makers can ever give so much.

Any dealer will supply you. [2327]

ONE CHANGE IN LINEUP SUNDAY

Fred Lenniger Will Replace Hasselback at Short Stop and Should Help Team.

NEWCASTLE HAS FAST BUNCH

Hewitt Will Oppose Walters on Mound and Great Pitchers, Battle Expected to Result.

Strengthened by the addition of a new short stop Rushville will enter the game Sunday against Newcastle fully expecting to win. The new short stop is Fred Lenniger, said to be a fast fielder and a fair hitter. Hasselback, who is suffering from a sore arm will be placed on the bench until he gets right.

In the Newcastle team the fans will see a fast aggregation of ball players and the same bunch that Tommy Ritter has lined up expecting to cop the Indiana State League pennant. In his lineup are several players well known here either having played in Rushville or have been prominent in semi-pro ball in Indiana. Bauman will be seen on third base, Firestone, on short, Buzz Steele, on second and Chase at first. Carl Miller, formerly of the Indianapolis Reserves, will do the catching. The outfield is composed of "Windy" Lotshaw, Woody and Leland, with Papy Stiers playing the bench. Babe Walters will pitch.

From this line up the fans will see that a real ball game can be expected and it will take some real playing on the part of the Rushers to beat the Newcastle team. Great interest has been shown in the game thus far and from all indications a large crowd will attend. Newcastle will come here on a special train and the rooting promises to be quite spirited.

The Rushers look especially good just now with ari Hewitt in the box. Hewitt made a great hit with the fans last Sunday by his clever work. Hewitt is a steady pitcher and never once came close to giving a base on balls. Hewitt is confident that he can beat Babe Walters in the game and if his team mates give him the proper support the Rushers will win.

The club directors are especially anxious to beat Newcastle. After a bad start at the first of the season the club now appears to be all set for the league race and the game Sunday will prove a test. The contest will start at 2:30 o'clock.

MAXWELLS COMING
ON SPECIAL TRAIN

Crowd of Newcastle Rooters Coming Sunday For Game With Rushers—Confident of Winning.

TEAM IS NOW GOING GOOD

Tommy Ritter's Maxwell baseball team will have a chance to compare strength with the fast Rushville team of the Indiana State League Sunday, when the local team goes to the Rush county city, says the Newcastle Courier. The Rushers have won all their games this season except the Cambridge City contest, which was lost 10 to 7.

Manager Ritter will take the same lineup to Rushville that he has used since the Richmond game. These men now are just striking their stride and when the warmer weather sets in, real baseball weather, something is sure to happen. The members of the local squad have been hitting in hard luck all spring with the exception of one or two members, and things are due for a change. All will hope it comes Sunday, when the Maxwells cross bats with the confident Rushers. Babe Walters will be on hands again with his fancy pitching.

The local team will leave this city on a special train over the Rushville branch of the L. E. & W., the train leaving some time about noon. The exact hour is not yet determined. Rushville fully expects to turn the trick of handing the Maxwells their first defeat and believe that Hewitt, their new pitcher, will be able to hold the locals down to a few hits.

(By United Press.)
Marion, Ind., May 27.—Grizzled and battle scarred veterans of the Civil war, followed by the energetic active veterans of Spanish-American war passed in review before Governor Ralston this afternoon at the thirty-sixth annual encampment of the Indiana department of the G. A. R. In the reviewing stand with the governor were Dept. Commander Col. A. B. Crampton and Captain David J. Palmer of Iowa, national commander besides other G. A. R. notables.

Following the parade Governor Ralston and others went to make addresses at the campfire in Civic Hall.

A Real Kidney Medicine
Always Reliable.

I feel that I ought to tell what I know about Swamp-Root and what it has done for me. I was down and out and had to quit work in 1906. I only weighed 135 pounds. The doctor said I had Kidney trouble in the worst form, and my liver was out of order, and I had Rheumatism so badly I could not get around. One day I picked up an Almanac and saw your advertisement, and it fit my case exactly. I got a one dollar bottle and took it and when it was gone I felt so much better that I bought five more bottles of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and I was a well man; my weight increased until I weigh 219 pounds. I am 65 years old and I am feeling fine and work every day. I have three men who knew me when I had to quit work in the Mill in 1906, and who will make affidavit to my present health.

THE FIRST THING A GOOD DOCTOR PRESCRIBES

A good physic and liver stimulant is usually the first remedy prescribed by the physician when called to a case. He does so because he knows that most of our ills are directly or indirectly due to constipation, sluggish liver, etc.; therefore his first concern is to reach and remove the probable cause of the illness, and the system, relieved of this poisonous feces, again becomes normal.

And that is exactly the idea behind Santal Laxative Tablets, a remedy for constipation, indigestion, and liver troubles, every ingredient of which has been passed on and approved by an eminent chemist, which you or any of your family may take and which easily and painlessly, but thoroughly and effectively, will cleanse your system, stimulate your liver, thereby ridding your organs and your blood of many of the underlying causes of illness and trouble.

Santal Laxatives contain no calomel. They are mild yet very effective. Do not gripe nor irritate.

We know Santal Laxatives will satisfy you. So positive are we of this that we sell Santals under a broad money-back guarantee, viz.: If in your judgment they don't give you the results you expect, send us the empty box; we will refund your money.

Santals are on sale at your druggist's. Ten doses, 10c. Send for a box, take one tonight and make tomorrow bright. A physician's trial package free, if you mention this advertisement when you write. Santal Remedies Co., 505 Union Central Bldg., Cincinnati, O.

The BLACK BOX by E. Phillips Oppenheim

Novelized from the Photo Play of the Same Name. Produced by the Universal Film Manufacturing Company.

He obeyed without a word. She left the place, locked the door securely, and made her way round to the other side of the garage—the side hidden from the house. Here, at the far corner, she drew a little pocket wireless from her bag and set it on the window sill. Very slowly she sent her message:

I have Craig here in the professor's garage, locked up. If our plan has succeeded, come at once. I am waiting for you.

There was no reply. She sent the message again and again. Suddenly, during a pause, there was a little flash upon the plate. A message was coming to her. She transcribed it with beating heart:

O. K. Coming.

The guard swung open the wicket in front of Quest's cell.

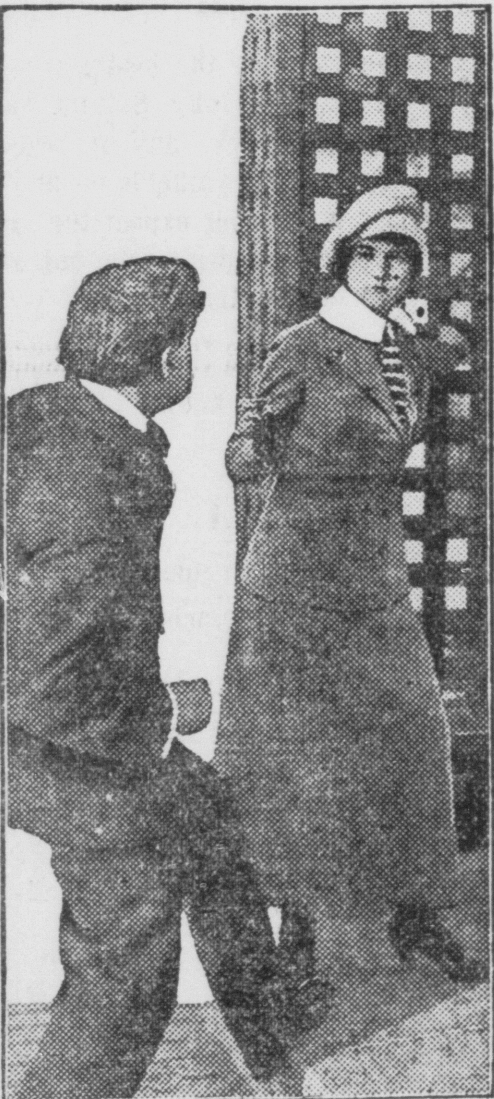

"Young woman to see you, Quest," he announced. "Ten minutes, and no loud talking, please."

Quest moved to the bars. It was Laura who stood there. She wasted very little time in preliminaries. Having satisfied herself that the guard was out of hearing, she leaned as close as she could to Quest.

"Look here," she said, "Lenora's crazy with the idea that Craig has done these jobs—Craig, the professor's servant, you know. We used the phototelesma yesterday afternoon and saw him burn something in the professor's study. Lenora went up straight away and got hold of the ashes."

"Smart girl," Quest murmured, nodding approvingly. "Well?"

"There are distinct fragments," Laura continued, "of embroidered stuff such as the Salvation Army girl might have been wearing. We put them on one side, but they ain't enough evidence. Lenora's idea is that you should get hold of Craig and hypnotize him into a confession."

"If You Move I Shall Shoot You!"

"That's all right," Quest replied, "but how am I to get hold of him?"

Laura glanced once more carelessly around to where the guard stood. "Lenora's gone up to the professor's again this afternoon. She is going to try and get hold of Craig and lock him in the garage. If she succeeds, she will send a message by wireless at three o'clock. It is half-past two now."

"Well?" Quest exclaimed. "Well?" "You can work this guard, if you want to," Lenora went on. "I have seen you tackle worse cases. He seems dead easy. Then let me in the cell, take my clothes and leave me here."

Quest followed the scheme in his mind quickly. "It is all right," he decided, "but I am not at all sure that they can really hold me on the evidence they have got. If they can't, I shall be doing myself more harm than good in this way."

"It's no use unless you can get hold of Craig quickly," Laura said. "He is getting the scares, as it is."

"I'll do it," Quest decided. "Call the guard, Laura."

She obeyed. The man came good-naturedly toward them.

Quest looked at him steadfastly through the bars.

"I want you to come inside for a moment," Quest repeated softly. "Unlock the door, please, take the key off your bunch and come inside."

The man hesitated, but all the time his fingers were fumbling with the keys. Quest's lips continued to move. The warden opened the door and entered. A few minutes later Quest passed the key through the window to

Laura, who was standing on guard.

Without a word, and with marvelous rapidity, the change was effected. Laura produced from her handbag a wig, which she plinned inside her hat and passed over to Quest. Then she flung herself on to the bed and drew the blanket up to her chin.

"How long will he stay like that?" she whispered, pointing to the warden, who was sitting on the floor with his arms folded and his eyes closed.

"Half an hour or so," Quest answered. "Don't bother about him. I shall drop the key back through the window."

Quest reached Georgia square at five minutes to three. A glance up and down assured him that the house was unwatched. He let himself in with his own key, threw Laura's clothes off, and, after a few moments' hesitation, selected from the wardrobe a rough tweed suit with a thick lining and lapels. Just as he was tying his tie, the little wireless which he had laid on the table at his side began to record a message. He glanced at the clock. It was exactly three.

Quest's eyes shone for a moment with satisfaction. Then he sent off his answering message, put on a dustier and slouch hat, and left the house by the side entrance. In a few moments he was in Broadway, and a quarter of an hour later a taxicab deposited him at the entrance to the professor's house. He walked swiftly up the drive and turned toward the garage, hoping every moment to see something of Lenora. The door of the place stood open. He entered and walked around. It was empty. There was no sign of either Craig or Lenora!

Quest recovered from his first disappointment, stole carefully out and made a minute examination of the place. Close to the corner from which Lenora had sent her wireless message to him, he stooped and picked up a handkerchief, which from the marking he recognized at once. A few feet away the gravel was disturbed as though by the trampling of several feet. He set his teeth.

"I've got to find that girl," he muttered. "Craig can go to h—!"

He turned away and approached the house. The front door stood open and he made his way at once to the library. The professor, who was sitting at his desk surrounded by a pile of books and papers, addressed him, as he entered, without looking up.

"Where on earth have you been, Craig?" he inquired petulantly. "I have rung for you six times. Have I not told you never to leave the place without orders?"

"It is not Craig," Quest replied quietly. "It is I, professor—Sanford Quest."

The professor swung round in his chair and eyed his visitor in blank astonishment.

"Quest?" he exclaimed. "God bless my soul! Have they let you out already, then?"

"I came out," Quest replied grimly. "Sit tight, and listen to me for a moment, will you?"

"You came out?" the professor repeated, looking a little dazed. "You mean you escaped?"

Quest nodded. "Perhaps I made a mistake," he admitted, "but here I am. Now listen, professor." And he told the story of the last few hours.

The professor's face was almost pitiful in its blank amazement. His mouth was wide open like a child's, words seemed absolutely denied to him. He rose to his feet, obviously a tremendous effort to adjust his ideas.

"Craig locked up in my garage?" he murmured. "Craig guilty of those murders? Why, my dear Mr. Quest, a more harmless, a more inoffensive, peace-loving and devoted servant than John Craig never trod this earth!"

"Maybe," Quest replied, "but where is he?"

The professor could do nothing but look around him a little vaguely.

"I am going back," Quest announced. "My only chance is the wireless. If Lenora is alive or at liberty, she will communicate with me."

"May I come, too?" the professor asked timidly.

"Come by all means," Quest assented. "I will drive you down in your car, if you like."

The professor hurried away to get his coat and hat, and a few minutes later they started off. In Broadway they left the car at a garage and made their way up a back street which enabled them to enter the house at the side entrance. They passed upstairs into the sitting-room. Quest fetched the pocket wireless and laid it down on the table. The professor examined it with interest.

"You are marvelous, my friend," he declared. "With all these resources of science at your command it seems incredible that you should be in the position you are."

Quest nodded coolly.

"Just one moment, professor, while I send off a message," he said, opening the little instrument. "Where are you, Lenora?" he signaled. "Send me word and I will fetch you. I am in my own house for the present. Let me know that you are safe."

The professor leaned back, smoking one of Quest's excellent cigars. He was beginning to show signs of the liveliest interest.

"Quest," he said, "I wish I could induce you to dismiss this extraordinary supposition of yours concerning my servant Craig. The man has been with me for the best part of twenty years. He saved my life in South America; we have traveled in all parts of the world. He has proved himself to be exemplary, a faithful and devoted servant."

"Then perhaps you will tell me," Quest suggested, "where he is now, and why he has gone away? That does not look like complete innocence, does it?"

The professor sighed.

"I cannot stay here much longer, unless I mean to go back to the Tombs," Quest declared.

"Surely," the professor suggested, "your innocence will very soon be established?"

"There is one thing which will happen, without a doubt," Quest replied.

"My auto and the chauffeur will be discovered. I have insisted upon inquiries being sent out throughout the state of Connecticut. They tell me, too, that the police are hard on the scent of Red Gallagher and the other man. Unless they get wind of this and sell me purposely, their arrest will be the end of my troubles. To tell you the truth, professor," Quest concluded, "it is not of myself I am thinking at all just now. It is Lenora."

The professor nodded sympathetically.

"The young lady who shut Craig up in the garage, you mean? A plucky young woman she must be."

"She has a great many other good qualities besides courage," Quest declared. "Women have not counted for much with me, professor, up till now, any more than they have done, I should think, with you, but I tell you frankly, if anyone has hurt a hair of that girl's head I will have their lives, whatever the penalty may be! It is for her sake—to find her—that I broke out of prison and that I am trying to keep free. The wisest thing to do, from my own point of view, would be to give myself up. I can't bring myself to do that without knowing what has become of her."

The professor nodded again.

"A charming and well-bred young woman she seems," he admitted. "I fear that I should only be a bungler in your profession, Mr. Quest, but if there is anything I can do depend upon me. Personally, I am convinced that Craig will return to me with some plausible explanation as to what has happened."

Quest, for the third or fourth time moved cautiously toward the window. His expression suddenly changed. He glanced suddenly downward, frowned slightly.

"They're after me!" he exclaimed. "Sit still, professor."

He darted into his room and reappeared again almost immediately. The professor gave a gasp of astonishment at his altered appearance. His tweed suit seemed to have been turned inside out. There were no lapels now, and it was buttoned up to his neck. He wore a long white apron; a peaked cap and a chinpiece of astonishing naturalness had transformed him into the semblance of a Dutch grocer's boy.

"I'm off, professor," Quest whispered. "You shall hear from me soon. I have not been here, remember!"

He ran lightly down the steps and into the kitchen, picked up a basket, filled it haphazard with vegetables and threw a cloth over the top. Then he made his way to the front door, peered out for a moment, swung through it on to the step, and, turning round, commenced to belabor it with his fist. Two plain-clothes men stood at the end of the street. A police automobile drew up outside the gate. Inspector French, attended by a policeman, stepped out. The former looked searchingly at Quest.

"Well, my boy, what are you doing here?" he asked.

"I cannot answer yet," Quest replied, in broken English. "Ten minutes already have I wasted. I have knocked at all the doors."

French smiled.

"You run along home," he said, "and tell your master that he had better leave off delivering goods here for the present."

Quest went off, grumbling. French opened the door with a master key and secured it carefully, leaving one of his men to guard it. He searched the rooms on the ground floor and finally ascended to Quest's study. The professor was still enjoying his cigar.

"Say, where's Quest?" the inspector asked promptly.

"Have you let him out already?" the professor replied, in a tone of mild surprise. "I thought he was in the Tombs prison."

The inspector pressed on without answering. Every room in the house was ransacked. Presently he came back to the room where the professor was still sitting. His usually good-humored face was a little clouded.

"Professor," he began— "What's the matter, Miles?"

A plain-clothes man from the street had come hurrying into the room.

"Say, Mr. French," he reported, "our fellows have got hold of a newsie down in the street, who was coming along 'way round the back and saw two men enter this house by the side entrance, half an hour ago. One he described exactly as the professor here. The other, without a doubt, was Quest."

French turned swiftly toward the professor.

"You hear what this man says?" he exclaimed. Mr. Ashleigh, you're

With Marvelous Rapidity, the Change Was Effected.

rooling me! You entered this house with Sanford Quest. You will have to tell us where he is hiding."

The professor knocked the ash from his cigar and replaced it in his mouth. His clasped hands rested in front of him. There was a twinkle of something like mirth in his eyes as he glanced up at the inspector.

"Mr. French," he said, "Mr. Sanford Quest is my friend. I am here in charge of his house. Believing as I do that his arrest was an egregious blunder, I shall say or do nothing likely to afford you any information."

French turned impatiently away. Suddenly a light broke in upon him; he rushed toward the door.

"That d—d Dutchie!" he exclaimed. The professor smiled benignly.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health. When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Rushville People Praise Simple Mixture

Many in Rushville praise the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka. This remedy is the most THOROUGH bowel cleanser ever sold being even used successfully in appendicitis. ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE of constipation, sour or gassy stomach. ONE MINUTE after you take it the gasses rumble and pass out. Adler-i-ka cannot gripe and the INSTANT action is surprising. F. E. Wolcott, druggist. (Advertisement.)

Selling Is MORE than Trading Stock for Money!

Selling is part of the scheme of business. Most anyone can sell once, but selling so you can create permanent customers is selling successfully. That is why we carry the large stock of buggies we have on our sample floor for prospective customers or purchasers to make their selections from. They don't have to take something they don't want, as we carry every style of buggy that there is a demand for. Then after the customer has made his selection from our stock we tell him exactly what the buggy is and it has to be just as we represent it or we make it that way. The customer takes no chances. He is sure to get just what he pays for. ONE sale reduces itself to a confidence game unless the buyer is perfectly satisfied. Satisfaction sends a customer away with a smile that won't come off. That is why our buggy business has grown. We have found out how to hold customers after we get them and every satisfied customer is bound to bring a new customer sooner or later. Right now our stock of buggies is complete and if you are needing a buggy come in and make your selection. We have the style you want and we would be glad to have you for one of our satisfied customers. We know you will be glad when you give us your vehicle business, so do it now.

HAS NEW PLAN FOR DECORATION DAY

Franklin McCrea Would Give Orphans an Automobile Ride Instead of Decorating Graves

INTERESTING STATEMENT

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 27.—Franklin McCrea, an Indianapolis attorney, came out today with an interesting statement concerning Decoration Day.

"Let those who own automobiles give the orphans the time of their lives," he said. "That will be better than to decorate the graves of their fathers."

McCrea said that for one gallon of gasoline and a little "wear and tear" a half dozen orphans could be shown the best time they ever had. Automobilists ought to search out every orphan asylum in the state," he added.

SAYS HE FAILED TO SUPPORT CHILD

Riley Stewart is Arrested and Gains His Release on Bond in Sum of $250.

AFFIDAVIT BY FORMER WIFE

Riley Stewart has been released on bond in the sum of $250 in the circuit court on a charge of failing to support his child. He was arrested and arraigned before Judge Sparks and gave the necessary bond. The affidavit against Stewart was filed by his divorced wife, who alleges that he has refused to contribute to the support of his child, a daughter seventeen years old.

Some time ago Stewart filed a petition to modify a divorce decree and since that time, it is stated has not provided for the daughter. Under the terms of the decree Stewart is to pay so much every week for the support of the child and this the affidavit states he has failed to do.

MACKENSEN'S ARMY PUSHING FORWARD

Making Steady Gains and Terrific Battle is Being Fought Six Miles From Przemyel.

NO CONFIRMATION AT BERLIN

(By United Press.)

Berlin, via London (by Wireless) May 27.—Mackensen's army is sweeping steadily southward toward the Russian main artery of retreat from Przemyel.

The war office made this announcement this afternoon, but failed to confirm an unofficial dispatch that the Austro-German army had reached the Przemyel-Lemberg railroad. "Our attacks northeast of Przemyel are progressing," was the official statement regarding the terrible battle being fought in less than six miles of the Galician fortress.

All reports from Galicia today agree that the battle is the most violent in many months.

BARGAINS ARE ALWAYS ADVERTISED

PRICE OF GAS IS STILL QUESTIONED

Ruling on Peoples Case Simply Modified Order and Central Fuel Order Was Recinded.

ONE IS EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

Ever since the ruling last week of the Public Service Commission regarding the gas cases affecting the city of Rushville there has been much discussion over the price of gas to be charged by the two companies, the Central Fuel and the Peoples Natural gas company. The order of the commission on the Peoples Gas company is very plain. The original order calling for forty cent gas was simply modified and drops back to thirty cents.

In the case of the Central Fuel company the previous order calling for forty cent gas was rescinded and a new hearing ordered. It is pointed out that under this rule the old price prevails until a new order is issued. There is little question about the Peoples company. The order for forty cent gas was modified to thirty cents, effective on and after June 1.

THRALL MADE DEFENDANT

Judge Sparks Overrules Motion For
New Trial in Kinsley Case
and Appeal is Taken.

The case of John E. Patton against Jack Reed, on an account demanding $75 was being heard today in the circuit court before a jury. It is the second time the case has been tried, the first time the jury failing to reach a verdict.

The case involves the sale of a cream separator by Patton to Reed. The costs of the case have already exceeded the amount demanded. Patton, at the time of the sale was in the hardware business with Curtis Thrall and sold the separator to Reed. Reed refused to pay for the machine setting forth that it did not work as represented, was not nearly so good as the hardware men would have him believe.

After the jury had been impaneled a motion was filed by the plaintiff to make Curtis Thrall a party defendant and to answer as to his interest. The jury was excused for the time being and an amended complaint filed in which Thrall was made a defendant. The case was resumed again this afternoon. The jury hearing the case is composed of the following: W. P. King, J. P. Bales, Willard Myers, C. W. Hinkle, Bruce Graham, A. M. Hodges, William Cross, D. C. Aldridge, Claude Giffin, J. H. Wynn, Manzy Bebout and J. A. Jones.

Judge Sparks found for the plaintiff in the suit of Albert Reinken against Nancy E. Voglesong, on a note to foreclose a mortgage. The court awarded Reinken judgment for $466.30 and ordered the mortgage foreclosed.

Judge Raymond Springer took the case of John Le Sueur against A. P. Walker and A. L. Winship under advisement yesterday after hearing the argument. The case involves an account LeSueur alleges Walker owes him for cattle purchased in Jersey. He demands $3,000. The case was heard some time ago but the argument was not made until yesterday.

Judge Sparks this forenoon overruled a motion for a new trial in the case of the State against A. E. Kinsley, convicted on a charge of the illegal sale of intoxicating liquor. Kinsley's attorneys gave notice of an appeal to the supreme court and the bond was fixed at $500, which Kinsley furnished.

Zeppelin Again Visits England Forty Miles From London.

(By United Press.)

London, May 27.—A Zeppelin airship passed over a small town forty miles east of here at eleven o'clock last night dropping a score of bombs. One woman was blown to pieces and another woman killed. A child was seriously injured. Five buildings were set on fire. British airmen pursued and drove the raider out to sea.

The Zeppelin escaped. The official statement says "little material damage was done."

William Kiser, of Carthage, sustained a broken leg and other injuries when a barn on the N. C. Binford farm, near Charlottesville, which he was helping to raise, collapsed. The barn was raised to place a cement foundation under it and was three feet off the ground. Without warning the barn gave way and collapsed. Several men were working on the barn and all escaped except Mr. Kiser. He was buried under the heavy timber and his right leg was fractured above the knee.

TOTAL REACHED
TWENTY MILLIONValue of Property in Rush County,
as Was Expected Advanced
Over One Million in Value.

ALL ASSESSORS REPORTED

With all the township assessors reporting, a gain of $1,074,227 in taxables is shown as a result of the work of assessing this year. The assessors of Posey and Noble township, reporting today brought the total to this sum. The figures are quite interesting.

It was predicted that the increase in value would be over a million dollars and this amount was figured on in the auditor's office when it was decided to advance the assessments ten per cent. The total value of property, both real and personal in Rush county as given in the assessors' reports is $20,146,158. In 1914 this value was placed at $19,061,931. This great outlay of wealth is distributed about equally over the county and there is hardly a township that does not have property over the million mark.

CLARK IS BOOKED

Take Elbert Hubbard's Place
on Local Program.

TO APPEAR HERE AUGUST 6

The program committee of the Rush County Chautauqua closed a deal yesterday whereby Champ Clark speaker of the House of Representatives, will take the place of the late Elbert Hubbard on the program of the chautauqua here.

The program committee has been trying ever since the news reached here that Elbert Hubbard had perished in the Lusitania tragedy to secure a suitable person to take his place and believe they have succeeded when they booked the Missouri congressman. Clark has never appeared here on the chautauqua platform and he should be a great drawing card. Final arrangements were made late last evening by wire.

Clark will appear here in the afternoon of August 6.

COMMENCEMENT
FRIDAY NIGHTClass Address Will be Delivered by Dr. Ernest Wray Oneal, of Chicago.

TITLE "POPULAR FALLACIES."

Harpist Will Play and B. F. Miller
Will Sing Solo—Seats Placed
on Sale Today.

The annual commencement exercises of the Rushville high school will be held tomorrow night in the auditorium of the Graham Annex. A fine program has been arranged and the speaker of the evening is a popular high priced orator, Dr. Ernest Wray Oneal, of Chicago.

In securing this speaker the committee departed from the usual course of securing a college president or professor, believing that a popular lecturer at popular prices would be more pleasing. Dr. Oneal is under the auspices of the Redpath lyceum bureau and his subject tomorrow night is "Popular Fallacies."

Miss Blanche Clarke of Indianapolis, an accomplished harpist will furnish the music for the commencement exercises and B. F. Miller will sing a solo. The commencement exercises will start at eight o'clock.

Dr. Oneal is a new man to Rushville, but from the recommendations and comments by the press all over the country he should more than please his audience here. He is said to be a brilliant orator and at times is eloquent, but in a modest way, as he does not strain for a moment in rhetorical flight. He is said to have the happy faculty of immediately creating interest, which he holds throughout the entire lecture without apparent effort. He vividly presents his story and from all advance notices is sure to captivate his audience. His address "Popular Fallacies" is said to be his best effort.

The commencement Friday night will mark the close of a week of activity on the part of the senior class and will close a four years of work in the local school.

The seat sale for the commencement exercises went on sale this morning at the Hargrove and Mullin drug store.

FIGHT TO KEEP HIM ON BENCHResumed Today in Supreme Court
When Demurrer to Complaint is Argued by Attorneys.

CLAIM NO JURISDICTION

Alleges Proceedings Should Have
Been Brought as Impeachment
Act Before Legislature.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 27.—The Indiana Supreme Court overruled the demurrer of attorneys for Judge Eli Redman of Vigo county, to the information filed by Attorney General Milburn today. The information asked for the impeachment of Judge Redman, who is one of the convicted Terre Haute conspirators now serving time in Leavenworth.

Attorneys for Redman then filed an answer asking that the information be not considered because Redman's case has been appealed to the circuit court of appeals in Chicago. Milburn filed a demurrer to this answer, which was to be argued this afternoon.

Judge Redman was elected, according to the returns, by a majority of ten over Charles Pulliam, the republican candidate, at the November election in Terre Haute. The election was contested and the contest is pending. Meanwhile the Federal court took up the charges of fraud with the result that the election corruption conspirators, including Redman and former Mayor Donn M. Roberts, were lodged in Leavenworth prison. It was to "put Redman over" that the conspiracy was formed.

Briefs that have been filed by Redman's attorney's argue that because Redman has never been convicted by an Indiana court, nor tried before an Indiana jury, the supreme court does not have jurisdiction in the case and should sustain the demurrer. The United States court for the district of Indiana (Judge Anderson's court) is a court of foreign jurisdiction, according to the briefs, and for the supreme court's decision would be to act against Redman without giving him a fair trial in the State of Indiana.

The brief outlines, what it says would be the proper way to bring impeachment proceedings against Redman. Charges should be preferred by the Indiana House and a hearing should be given by the Senate, which would act as a court of impeachment, according to the brief. Should procedure would allow Redman to be Circuit judge and draw the salary for two years at least while occupying a cell in Leavenworth, unless in the meantime the contest filed by Pulliam would be successful.

It was conceded that in case the court overruled the demurrer there would be little left to do other than to prepare an order ousting Redman.

NO DECISION IN SIGHT.

When Explosion Occurred.

WORD SENT TO WASHINGTON

Incident Likely to Remain Unsolv-
able Mystery According to Administration Officials.

(By United Press.)

Washington, May 27.—The American steamer Nebraskan that was damaged yesterday by a mine or torpedo was not flying the American flag when the explosion occurred. Those on board refused to comment on what caused the explosion. This was made plain today in a message to the state department from Consul General Skinner at London, who cabled the report of Capt. Green of the Nebraskan.

"It was dusk when the explosion occurred. The flag had been hauled down five minutes before. The name of the ship was painted on both sides in letters six feet tall. We had no warning and saw nothing." Those were the important statements in the report.

"Had no warning and saw nothing."

The administration officials said this was the most significant thing seen in the report.

It was taken as declaring an uncertainty which promised to make the incident an unsolvable mystery. If the ship was torpedoed by a submarine it was agreed that the attack was an act of war. Officials admitted as much after examining precedents.

It was admitted however, that there was no evidence as yet that this had happened.

BOTH CREWS ARE RESCUED

London, May 27.—The Montreal steamer Morwenna was torpedoed yesterday, according to a report made public today by the admiralty. She was bound from Cardiff to Sydney and was attacked by a German submarine 160 miles west of St. Ann's head.

The submarine tore a great hole in the side of the vessel and then opened fire, shelling her for several minutes. One member of the crew was killed and the remainder escaped in the boats and were picked up a long while afterwards by a Belgian boat and landed.

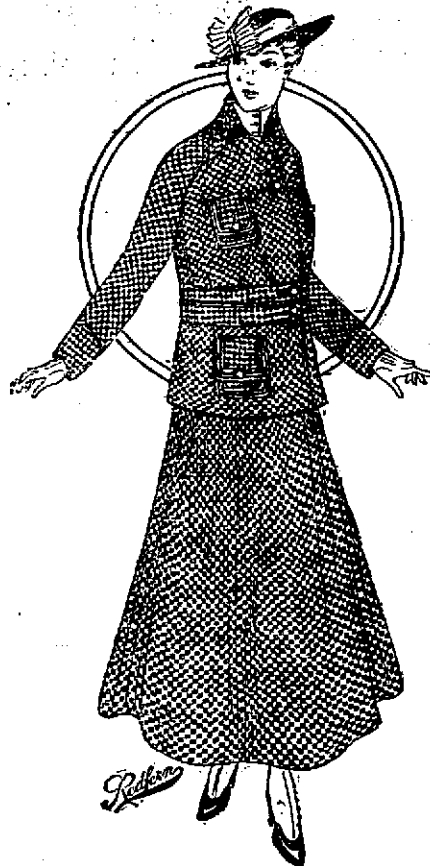

AND STILL ANOTHER

(By United Press.)

London, May 27.—The admiralty announces that the British steamer Betty was attacked by a German submarine in the North Sea yesterday. The crew was rescued and landed safely.

Read This Letter:

"Several years ago I called on Lane & Evans to buy a pump and they almost forced me to buy one of your Fig. 28 Red Jacket Double-Acting Force Pumps and fifty feet of hose when I only intended to buy a cheap set length pump. Mr. Lane put up such strong argument on 'fire protection' that I followed his advice and bought the Fig. 28, little thinking that it would be of any service to me in that respect.

Shortly after the pump was installed, my barn caught fire and had it not been for this pump and hose and the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Barnett, my barn, house and all buildings on the place would have been destroyed."

WORD IS USED CARELESSLY

Construction of Term "Suitable" in Tariff Act Plunges That Part of Law Into Uncertainty.

IS BEFORE CUSTOMS COURT

This is Typical Example of Inexcusable Blundering of Congress—What Old Law Said.

Washington, D. C., May 27.—A typical example of inexcusable blundering by Congress in the enactment of a statute has been argued recently before the Court of Customs Appeals. The court is asked to interpret the meaning of paragraph 408 of the Underwood tariff act, the first important law of the present administration.

The paragraph provides free entry for "waste" of any of the articles therein described "Suitable" for the manufacture of paper. Careless use of the word "suitable" in drafting the law plunged it into uncertainty, for it admits a wide latitude of construction. Will free entry be given to anything that might be used in paper making; or must waste be used only in paper making in order to enter free of duty?

Already two opposing constructions have been placed upon the statute, one by customs officials who imposed a tax, another by the Board of U. S. General Appraisers who allowed free entry. Now the higher court is appealed to for a third opinion as to the intent of the law makers.

The blunder is more notable because the language of former tariff acts was an ample guide, clearly emphasizing the need for unequivocal dictation. The act of 1897 provided free entry for waste "Fit Only" to be converted into paper. The corresponding paragraph in the 1909 act extended free entry to waste "used chiefly" for paper making.

With these provisions in the old law, it seems as though intelligent revision would have been simplicity itself. But with their fatal gift of blundering the Democrats seized upon and inserted "Suitable" in the law, the one word that neither customs officials, lawyers nor business men affected could understand, and which rendered imperative the litigation now in the courts before the statute can be fully enforced.

The annual reception, given to the out-going class of the Rushville high school, was given last night by the Juniors in the Graham building. The Juniors proved to be good entertainers. The corridors were artistically decorated with the class colors of both classes. The Seniors have as their colors yellow and white; the Juniors pink and green. Boughs and leaves were used extensively in carrying out the color designs. The electric lights were covered with jap lanterns, which added to the scenic beauty. The many different class rooms were used for rest rooms, and were nicely decorated with college pennants, and the class colors of the two classes. One of the rooms was used to serve refreshments of ice cream and mints. The cream was yellow and white and the mints were pink and green. Punch was also served in the corridor. In the way of entertainment, Miss Norma Smith and Miss Frances Frazee gave several well chosen selections. An Edison machine also furnished music. The Junior class officers are, Forest Jones, president; Dorothy Wright, vice president; Phyllis Dean, treasurer and Harry Schmalzel, secretary. The Sponsors of the class are Miss Nelle Baldwin and Nathan Coyle.

Principle Not Applied.

A striking illustration of the inability of Democratic leaders to base their policies upon fundamental principles, is found in the columns of the Oregon Journal, the leading Democratic paper of the Pacific Northwest, which comments upon the fact that "the gates of Europe are barred against American tourists and $286,000,000 will be saved to this country thereby."

The Journal says that: "Instead of being taken out of America and spent in Europe, this money is being spent this year in the United States, which means that the sum is doubled in its effects at home. Do you realize what the changed status means directly to every railroad, every coastwise, lake and steamer line, every hotel, every summer boarding house, every garage, every automobile dealer and repairer, and do you realize what it means indirectly to every resident of America?"

And yet the Journal and its Democratic co-laborers cannot see that exactly the same principle is involved in the question of a protective tariff. In January, 1913, the United States sent abroad something like a million and a half dollars for breadstuffs. That was under a Republican protective tariff. In January, 1914, under a Democratic tariff,

the United States sent abroad more than five million dollars for similar commodities. That was an increase of three millions and a half for a single month on one line of commodities.

Every school boy can "realize" what the changed status means directly to every producer of breadstuffs, to every manufacturer who is selling goods to the producer of breadstuffs, to every hardware man, to every clothier, to every lumberman, to the butcher, the baker, and candlestick maker.

In January, 1913, under a Republican tariff, the United States sent abroad nearly a million and a half dollars for manufacturers of wool; but in January, 1914, under a Democratic tariff, we sent abroad more than four millions and a half, an increase of three million dollars on this one commodity for one month in the year.

This was a direct loss to the men who work in or operate the woolen mills of the United States. Those men are buyers of American products, patrons of American laundries and barber shops, buyers of American newspapers, consumers of American food, employers of American carpenters, cobblers and bootblacks. Their buying power was reduced $3,000,000 in 1 month.

Let us look at the totals for January in the two years. During that month in 1913, the United States sent abroad for 36 specified imported products, more than $27,000,000; while for the similar month in 1914, there was sent abroad $43,000,000, or an increase of $16,000,000 for the one month.

Commenting upon the $286,000,000 formerly spent in Europe by tourists and now retained in the United States, the Democratic Journal says:

"It does not take much of an imagination to grasp the meaning of the enormous sum thus to be spent, not in a far country, but among the people of the United States. It takes no exaggeration of the facts to picture the prosperity that it spells for thousands."

But those words apply to money spent for commodities just as strongly as to money spent by pleasure seekers. Money spent in America for American products gives profitable and useful employment to millions of industrious, thrifty, patriotic citizens. "The sum is doubled in its effect at home."

No stronger argument need be made in behalf of a protective policy for the United States than is found in the language of the Democratic periodical which grows so eloquent over the expenditure of tourists' money in America instead of in Europe. If those who have been accustomed to vote the Democratic ticket, thus inviting Americans to spend their money for the employment of foreign labor and foreign capital abroad, would be fair enough to acknowledge the application of the same principle to the purchase of commodities that applied to expenditures for travel, there would never again be the remotest possibility of the election of a Democratic President and a Democratic Congress.

The Saving War.

"If it had not been for the war, foreign cheap-made goods under a Democratic free trade tariff would have absolutely overwhelmed the country, and poverty and idleness and want would have been far greater than they are today. While our imports have increased, our revenues have decreased. The falling off of the revenue is not due to lack of imports, but to lack of tariff. The advantage of the tariff is now going to the foreigner, and the American people are paying a direct tax to make up this sum that a Democratic administration has given to our foreign rivals."—Congressman W. E. Humphrey.

Marse Henry Watterson is clearly out of patience with some of the so-called leaders of his party—as is shown by his comments on the Lusitania incident. "Mr. Stone of Missouri for example," he writes. "He who rattles around as chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the Senate, is as flabby as his own gumshoes." And of Bryan in this emergency Watterson says the administration "is most vulnerable in the Department of State."

For the first two years of Mr. Wilson's administration there were thirty-five thousand commercial failures. This number is some ten

(By United Press.)

Chicago, May 27.—Secrecy today surrounded the visit to Chicago of Governor Charles H. Whitman of New York. Republican leaders here would not say what his mission was but it was reliably reported that he was looking over Chicago as a possible battleground on which to stage his fight for the G. O. P. nomination for President. Whitman, admittedly has presidential aspirations and it is understood he will confer with a number of Illinois and Middle Western Republicans here today.

While in the city he is the guest of Fred W. Upham, prominent in G. O. P. affairs. A luncheon which was attended by many prominent politicians was tendered him at the Chicago club today.

Meanwhile, while Whitman's friends were flocking about him, the boosters of Congressman James R. Mann were not idle. They circulated among prominent Republicans putting in a kick for Mann's candidacy where ever possible.

thousand in excess of similar failures using the first two years of Taft administration. The total liabilities involved in the commercial failures during the first two years of the Wilson administration amounted to seven hundred and sixty millions of dollars. The total liabilities of the United States during the four years of the Taft administration amounted to six hundred and forty millions, one hundred and twenty millions less than for the two years of Wilson rule.

Any two-cent politician of the Democracy can get into the newspapers nowadays by arising to predict the re-nomination of Wilson.

HOOSIER HISTORY(Prepared by the United Press from Records in the State Library)

Among the more recent Indiana novelists are Lew Wallace, Charles Major and Elizabeth Miller. All three of these writers chose to write foreign historical novels.

General Lew Wallace began with "The Fair God" a story of Mexico at the time of Cortez. General Wallace was one of the Indiana leaders in the Mexican war and his service in the Southern country was the inspiration of his work.

During his service as minister to Turkey under President Garfield he wrote "The Prince of India" a story of Constantinople during the Turkish occupation. "Ben Hur" a religious novel rivaled the sale of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The Co-operative Tire

Goodyear has always built co-operative tires. Every saving has gone to the user. The more men bought the better we built them, and the lower we sold them.

That is why Goodyear has held top place, outselling any other tire.

3 Reductions

Note that in two years we made three big price reductions. The last—on February 1st—brought the total to 45 per cent. Yet in costly ways these tires have been bettered. In not one iota were they ever skimmed.

Our Fortified Tire is still "On-Air" cured to save blow-outs. Yet that one extra costs us $450,000 yearly.

It still has our No-Rim-Cut feature. It has in each base 126 braided piano wires to make the tire secure. It embodies hundreds of rubber rivets, formed to combat loose treads.

Our All-Weather tread is still double-thick. It still has the sharp, tough, resistless grips.

Those extras—all exclusive to Goodyear—are all retained, despite our price reductions. And we still spend $100,000 yearly to discover new ways to better them.

Your Ally

In all these ways, Goodyear is your ally. You do injustice to yourself when you fail to secure this advantage. Never in tire history was such value given as you get in Goodyear tires today.

No smaller makers can ever give so much.

Any dealer will supply you. [237]

ONE CHANGE IN LINEUP SUNDAY

Fred Lenniger Will Replace Hasselback at Short Stop and Should Help Team.

NEWCASTLE HAS FAST BUNCH

Hewitt Will Oppose Walters on Mound and Great Pitchers, Battle Expected to Result.

Strengthened by the addition of a new short stop Rushville will enter the game Sunday against Newcastle fully expecting to win. The new short stop is Fred Lenniger, said to be a fast fielder and a fair hitter. Hasselback, who is suffering from a sore arm will be placed on the bench until he gets right.

In the Newcastle team the fans will see a fast aggregation of ball players and the same bunch that Tommy Ritter has lined up expecting to cop the Indiana State League pennant. In his lineup are several players well known here either having played in Rushville or have been prominent in semi-pro ball in Indiana. Bauman will be seen on third base, Firestone, on short, Buzz Steele, on second and Chase at first. Carl Miller, formerly of the Indianapolis Reserves, will do the catching. The outfield is composed of "Windy" Lotshaw, Woody and Leonard, with Papy Stiers playing the bench. Babe Walters will pitch.

From this line up the fans will see that a real ball game can be expected and it will take some real playing on the part of the Rushers to beat the Newcastle team. Great interest has been shown in the game thus far and from all indications a large crowd will attend. Newcastle will come here on a special train and the rooting promises to be quite spirited.

The Rushers look especially good just now with arl Hewitt in the box. Hewitt made a great hit with the fans last Sunday by his clever work. Hewitt is a steady pitcher and never once came close to giving a base on balls. Hewitt is confident that he can beat Babe Walters in the game and if his team mates give him the proper support the Rushers will win.

The club directors are especially anxious to beat Newcastle. After a bad start at the first of the season the club now appears to be all set for the league race and the game Sunday will prove a test. The contest will start at 2:30 o'clock.

MAXWELLS COMING ON SPECIAL TRAIN

Crowd of Newcastle Rooters Coming Sunday For Game With Rushers—Confident of Winning.

Tommy Ritter's Maxwell baseball team will have a chance to compare strength with the fast Rushville team of the Indiana State league Sunday, when the local team goes to the Rush county city, says the Newcastle Courier. The Rushers have won all their games this season except the Cambridge City contest, which was lost 10 to 7.

Manager Ritter will take the same lineup to Rushville that he has used since the Richmond game. These men now are just striking their stride and when the warmer weather sets in, real baseball weather, something is sure to happen. The members of the local squad have been hitting in hard luck all spring with the exception of one or two members, and things are due for a change. All will hope it comes Sunday, when the Maxwells cross bats with the confident Rushers. Babe Walters will be on hands again with his fancy pitching.

The local team will leave this city on a special train over the Rushville branch of the L. E. & W., the train leaving some time about noon. The exact hour is not yet determined. Rushville fully expects to turn the trick of defeating the Maxwells their first debut and believe that Hewitt, their new pitcher, will be able to hold the locals down to a few hits.

A Real Kidney Medicine Always Reliable.

I feel that I ought to tell what I know about Swamp-Root and what it has done for me. I was down and out and had to quit work in 1908; I only weighed 135 pounds. The doctor said I had kidney trouble in the worst form, and my liver was out of order; and I had Rheumatism so badly I could not get around. One day I picked up an Almanac and saw your advertisement, and it fit my case exactly. I got a one dollar bottle and took it and when it was gone I felt so much better that I bought five more bottles of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and I was a well man; my weight increased until I weigh 215 pounds. I am 65 years old and I am feeling fine and work every day. I have three men who knew me when I had to quit work in the Mill in 1908, and who will make affidavit to my present health.

If you want to use the above statements as my testimonials, you have my consent.

Yours very truly,

THE FIRST THING A GOOD DOCTOR PRESCRIBES

A good physic and liver stimulant is usually the first remedy prescribed by the physician when called to a case. He does so because he knows that most of our ills are directly or indirectly due to constipation, sluggish liver, etc.; therefore his first concern is to reach and remove the probable cause of the illness, and the system, relieved of this poisonous feces, again becomes normal.

And that is exactly the idea behind Santal Laxative Tablets, a remedy for constipation, indigestion, and liver troubles, every ingredient of which has been passed on and approved by an eminent chemist, which you or any of your family may take and which easily and painlessly, but thoroughly and effectively, will cleanse your system, stimulate your liver, thereby ridding your organs and your blood of many of the underlying causes of illness and trouble.

Santal Laxatives contain no calomel. They are mild yet very effective. Do not gripe nor irritate.

We know Santal Laxatives will satisfy you. So positive are we of this that we sell Santals under a broad money-back guarantee, viz.: If in your judgment they don't give you the results you expect, send us the empty box; we will refund your money.

Santals are on sale at our druggist's. Ten doses, 10c. Send for a box, take one tonight and make tomorrow bright. A physician's trial package free, if you mention this advertisement when you write. Santal Remedies Co., 505 Union Central Bldg., Cincinnati, O.

He obeyed without a word. She left the place, locked the door securely, and made her way round to the other side of the garage—the side hidden from the house. Here, at the far corner, she drew a little pocket wireless from her bag and set it on the window sill. Very slowly she sent her message:

I have Craig here in the professor's garage, locked up. If my plan has succeeded, come at once. I am waiting for you.

There was no reply. She sent the message again and again. Suddenly, during a pause, there was a little flash upon the plate. A message was coming to her. She transcribed it with beating heart:

O. K. Coming.

The guard swung open the wicket in front of Quest's cell.

"Young woman to see you, Quest," he announced. "Ten minutes, and no loud talking, please."

Quest moved to the bars. It was Laura who stood there. She wasted very little time in preliminaries. Having satisfied herself that the guard was out of hearing, she leaned as close as she could to Quest.

"Look here," she said, "Lenora's crazy with the idea that Craig has done these jobs—Craig, the professor's servant, you know. We used the phototelegraph yesterday afternoon and saw him burn something in the professor's study. Lenora went up straight away and got hold of the ashes."

"Smart girl," Quest murmured, nodding approvingly. "Well?"

"There are distinct fragments," Laura continued, "of embroidered stuff such as the Salvation Army girl might have been wearing. We put them on one side, but they ain't enough evidence. Lenora's idea is that you should get hold of Craig and hypnotize him into a confession."

"That's all right," Quest replied, "but how am I to get hold of him?"

Laura glanced once more carelessly around to where the guard stood.

"Lenora's gone up to the professor's again this afternoon. She is going to try and get hold of Craig and lock him in the garage. If she succeeds, she will send a message by wireless at three o'clock. It is half-past two now."

"Well?" Quest exclaimed. "Well?" "You can work this guard, if you want to," Lenora went on. "I have seen you tackle worse cases. He seems dead easy. Then let me in the cell, take my clothes and leave me here." Quest followed the scheme in his mind quickly.

"It is all right," he decided, "but I am not at all sure that they can really hold me on the evidence they have got. If they can't, I shall be doing myself more harm than good in this way."

"It's no use unless you can get hold of Craig quickly," Laura said. "He is getting the scares, as it is."

"I'll do it," Quest decided. "Call the guard, Laura."

She obeyed. The man came good-naturedly toward them.

Quest looked at him steadfastly through the bars.

"I want you to come inside for a moment," Quest repeated softly. "Unlock the door, please, take the key off your bunch and come inside."

The man hesitated, but all the time his fingers were fumbling with the keys. Quest's lips continued to move. The warden opened the door and entered. A few minutes later Quest passed the key through the window to

Laura, who was standing on guard.

Without a word, and with marvelous rapidity, the change was effected.

Laura produced from her handbag a wig, which she pinned inside her hat and passed over to Quest. Then she flung herself on to the bed and drew the blanket up to her chin.

"How long will it stay like that?" she whispered, pointing to the warden, who was sitting on the floor with his arms folded and his eyes closed.

"Half an hour or so," Quest answered. "Don't bother about him. I shall drop the key back through the window."

Quest reached Georgia square at five minutes to three. A glance up and down assured him that the house was unwatched. He let himself in with his own key, threw Laura's clothes off, and, after a few moments' hesitation, selected from the wardrobe a rough tweed suit with a thick lining and lapels. Just as he was tying his tie, the little wireless which he had laid on the table at his side began to record a message. He glanced at the clock. It was exactly three.

Quest's eyes shone for a moment with satisfaction. Then he sent off his answering message, put on a dustier and slouch hat, and left the house by the side entrance. In a few moments he was in Broadway, and a quarter of an hour later a taxicab deposited him at the entrance to the professor's house. He walked swiftly up the drive and turned toward the garage, hoping every moment to see something of Lenora. The door of the place stood open. He entered and walked around. It was empty. There was no sign of either Craig or Lenora!

Quest recovered from his first disappointment, stole carefully out and made a minute examination of the place. Close to the corner from which Lenora had sent her wireless message to him, he stooped and picked up a handkerchief, which from the marking he recognized at once. A few feet away the gravel was disturbed as though by the trampling of several feet. He set his teeth.

"I've got to find that girl," he muttered. "Craig can go to h—!"

He turned away and approached the house. The front door stood open and he made his way at once to the library. The professor, who was sitting at his desk surrounded by a pile of books and papers, addressed him, as he entered, without looking up.

"Where on earth have you been, Craig?" he inquired petulantly. "I have rung for you six times. Have I not told you never to leave the place without orders?"

"It is not Craig," Quest replied quietly. "It is I, professor—Sanford Quest."

The professor swung round in his chair and eyed his visitor in blank astonishment.

"Quest?" he exclaimed. "God bless my soul! Have they let you out already, then?"

"I came out," Quest replied grimly. "Sit tight, and listen to me for a moment, will you?"

"You came out?" the professor repeated, looking a little dazed. "You mean you escaped?"

Quest nodded.

"Perhaps I made a mistake," he admitted, "but here I am. Now listen, professor." And he told the story of the last few hours.

The professor's face was almost pitiful in its blank amazement. His mouth was wide open like a child's, words seemed absolutely denied to him. He rose to his feet, obviously a tremendous effort to adjust his ideas.

"Craig locked up in my garage?" he murmured. "Craig guilty of those murders? Why, my dear Mr. Quest, a more harmless, a more inoffensive, peace-loving and devoted servant than John Craig never trod this earth!"

"Maybe," Quest replied, "but where is he?"

The professor could do nothing but look around him a little vaguely.

"I am going back," Quest announced. "My only chance is the wireless. If Lenora is alive or at liberty, she will communicate with me."

"May I come, too?" the professor asked timidly.

"Come by all means," Quest assented. "I will drive you down in your car, if you like."

The professor hurried away to get his coat and hat, and a few minutes later they started off. In Broadway they left the car at a garage and made their way up a back street which enabled them to enter the house at the side entrance. They passed upstairs into the sitting-room. Quest fetched the pocket wireless and laid it down on the table. The professor examined it with interest.

"You are marvelous, my friend," he declared. "With all these resources of science at your command it seems incredible that you should be in the position you are."

Quest nodded coolly.

"Just one moment, professor, while I send off a message," he said, opening the little instrument. "Where are you, Lenora?" he signaled. "Send me word and I will fetch you. I am in my own house for the present. Let me know that you are safe."

The professor leaned back, smoking one of Quest's excellent cigars. He was beginning to show signs of the liveliest interest.

"Quest," he said, "I wish I could induce you to dismiss this extraordinary supposition of yours concerning my servant Craig. The man has been with me for the best part of twenty years. He saved my life in South America; we have traveled in all parts of the world. He has proved himself to be exemplary, a faithful and devoted servant."

"Then perhaps you will tell me," Quest suggested, "where he is now, and why he has gone away? That does not look like complete innocence, does it?"

The professor sighed.

"I cannot stay here much longer, unless I mean to go back to the Tombs," Quest declared.

"Surely," the professor suggested, "your innocence will very soon be established."

"There is one thing which will happen, without a doubt," Quest replied. "My auto and the chauffeur will be discovered. I have insisted upon inquiries being sent out throughout the state of Connecticut. They tell me, too, that the police are hard on the scent of Red Gallagher and the other man. Unless they get wind of this and sell me purposely, their arrest will be the end of my troubles. To tell you the truth, professor," Quest concluded, "it is not of myself I am thinking at all just now. It is Lenora."

The professor nodded sympathetically.

"The young lady who shut Craig up in the garage, you mean? A plucky young woman she must be."

"She has a great many other good qualities besides courage," Quest declared. "Women have not counted for much with me, professor, up till now, any more than they have done, I should think, with you, but I tell you frankly, if anyone has hurt a hair of that girl's head I will have their lives, whatever the penalty may be! It is for her sake—to find her—that I broke out of prison and that I am trying to keep free. The wisest thing to do, from my own point of view, would be to give myself up. I can't bring myself to do that without knowing what has become of her."

The professor nodded again.

"A charming and well-bred young woman she seems," he admitted. "I fear that I should only be a bungler in your profession, Mr. Quest, but if there is anything I can do depend upon me. Personally, I am convinced that Craig will return to me with some plausible explanation as to what has happened."

Quest, for the third or fourth time moved cautiously toward the window. His expression suddenly changed. He glanced suddenly downward, frowned slightly.

"They're after me!" he exclaimed. "Sit still, professor."

He darted into his room and reappeared again almost immediately. The professor gave a gasp of astonishment at his altered appearance. His tweed suit seemed to have been turned inside out. There were no lapels now, and it was buttoned up to his neck. He wore a long white apron; a peaked cap and a chippiece of astonishing naturalness had transformed him into the semblance of a Dutch grocer's boy.

"I'm off, professor," Quest whispered. "You shall hear from me soon. I have not been here, remember!"

He ran lightly down the steps and into the kitchen, picked up a basket, filled it haphazard with vegetables and threw a cloth over the top. Then he made his way to the front door, peered out for a moment, swung through it on to the step, and, turning round, commenced to belabor it with his fist. Two plain-clothes men stood at the end of the street. A police automobile drew up outside the gate. Inspector French, attended by a policeman, stepped out. The former looked searchingly at Quest.

"Well, my boy, what are you doing here?" he asked.

"I cannot answer yet," Quest replied, in broken English. "Ten minutes already have I wasted. I have knocked at all the doors."

French smiled.

"You run along home," he said, "and tell your master that he had better leave off delivering goods here for the present."

Quest went off, grumbling. French opened the door with a master key and secured it carefully, leaving one of his men to guard it. He searched the rooms on the ground floor and finally ascended to Quest's study. The professor was still enjoying his cigar.

"Say, where's Quest?" the inspector asked promptly.

"Have you let him out already?" the professor replied, in a tone of mild surprise. "I thought he was in the Tombs prison."

The inspector pressed on without answering. Every room in the house was ransacked. Presently he came back to the room where the professor was still sitting. His usually good-humored face was a little clouded.

"Professor," he began— "What's the matter, Miles?"

A plain-clothes man from the street had come hurrying into the room.

"Say, Mr. French," he reported, "our fellows have got hold of a newsie down in the street, who was coming along 'way round the back and saw two men enter this house by the side entrance, half an hour ago. One he described exactly as the professor here. The other, without a doubt, was Quest."

French turned swiftly toward the professor.

"You hear what this man says?" he exclaimed. Mr. Ashleigh, you're

With Marvelous Rapidity, the Change

Was Effected. You entered this house with Sanford Quest. You will have to tell us where he is hiding."

The professor knocked the ash from his cigar and replaced it in his mouth. His clasped hands rested in front of him. There was a twinkle of something like mirth in his eyes as he glanced up at the inspector.

"Mr. French," he said, "Mr. Sanford Quest is my friend. I am here in charge of his house. Believing as I do that his arrest was an egregious blunder, I shall say or do nothing likely to afford you any information."

French turned impatiently away. Suddenly a light broke in upon him; he rushed toward the door.

"That d—d Dutchie!" he exclaimed. The professor smiled benignly.

"Me for 'GETS-IT' When I Have Corns"

Simple As Saying It; Never Fails.

It does your heart good to see how easily and quickly any corn comes out when you put "GETS-IT" on! And then when you're gone along for years trying everything, when you've sat up nights wrapping up your toes in bandages, smearing on salves that rub off or swell up the corn, pasting on cotton plasters that make corns pop-eyed, slaughtering your toes with razors, jabbing them with knives and prying to the quick with scissors—and then you put on 2 drops of "GETS-IT" and see your corn fall right off—why, it just looks like a miracle. Just try it. "GETS-IT" never fails. No pain, no trouble. Use it for any corn, callus, wart or bunion. "GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. Sold in Louisville and recommended as the world's best corn cure by Thos. W. Lytle, Hargrove & Mullin and F. E. Walcott.

Selling Is MORE than Trading Stock for Money!

Selling is part of the scheme of business. Most anyone can sell once, but selling so you can create permanent customers is selling successfully. That is why we carry the large stock of buggies we have on our sample floor for prospective customers or purchasers to make their selections from. They don't have to take something they don't want, as we carry every style of buggy that there is a demand for. Then after the customer has made his selection from our stock we tell him exactly what the buggy is and it has to be just as we represent it or we make it that way. The customer takes no chances. He is sure to get just what he pays for. ONE sale reduces itself to a confidence game unless the buyer is perfectly satisfied. Satisfaction sends a customer away with a smile that won't come off. That is why our buggy business has grown. We have found out how to hold customers after we get them and every satisfied customer is bound to bring a new customer sooner or later. Right now our stock of buggies is complete and if you are needing a buggy come in and make your selection. We have the style you want and we would be glad to have you for one of our satisfied customers. We know you will be glad when you give us your vehicle business, so do it now.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health. When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

HAS NEW PLAN FOR DECORATION DAY

Franklin McCrea Would Give Orphans an Automobile Ride Instead of Decorating Graves

INTERESTING STATEMENT

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 27.—Franklin McCrea, an Indianapolis attorney, came out today with an interesting statement concerning Decoration Day.

"Let those who own automobiles give the orphans the time of their lives," he said. "That will be better than to decorate the graves of their fathers."

McCrea said that for one gallon of gasoline and a little "wear and tear," a half dozen orphans could be shown the best time they ever had. Automobilists ought to search out every orphan asylum in the state," he added.

SAYS HE FAILED TO SUPPORT CHILD

Riley Stewart is Arrested and Gains His Release on Bond in Sum of $250.

AFFIDAVIT BY FORMER WIFE

Riley Stewart has been released on bond in the sum of $250 in the circuit court on a charge of failing to support his child. He was arrested and arraigned before Judge Sparks and gave the necessary bond. The affidavit against Stewart was filed by his divorced wife, who alleges that he has refused to contribute to the support of his child, a daughter seventeen years old.

Some time ago Stewart filed a petition to modify a divorce decree and since that time, it is stated has not provided for the daughter. Under the terms of the decree Stewart is to pay so much every week for the support of the child and this the affidavit states he has failed to do.

MACKENSEN'S ARMY PUSHING FORWARD

Making Steady Gains and Terrific Battle is Being Fought Six Miles From Przemysl.

NO CONFIRMATION AT BERLIN

(By United Press.)

Berlin, via London (by Wireless) May 27.—Mackensen's army is sweeping steadily southward toward the Russian main artery of retreat from Przemysl.

The war office made this announcement this afternoon, but failed to confirm an unofficial dispatch that the Austro-German army had reached the Premysl-Lemberg railroad. "Our attacks northeast of Przemysl are progressing," was the official statement regarding the terrific battle being fought in less than six miles of the Galician fortress.

All reports from Galicia today agree that the battle is the most violent in many months.

PRICE OF GAS IS STILL QUESTIONED

Ruling on Peoples Case Simply Modified Order and Central Fuel Order Was Recinded.

ONE IS EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

Ever since the ruling last week of the Public Service Commission regarding the gas cases effecting the city of Rushville there has been much discussion over the price of gas to be charged by the two companies, the Central Fuel and the Peoples Natural gas company. The order of the commission on the Peoples Gas company is very plain. The original order calling for forty cent gas was simply modified and drops back to thirty cents.

In the case of the Central Fuel company the previous order calling for forty cent gas was rescinded and a new hearing ordered. It is pointed out that under this rule the old price prevails until a new order is issued. There is little question about the Peoples company. The order for forty cent gas was modified to thirty cents, effective on and after June 1.

It Starts Tomorrow Casady's Mid-Season Sale May 28 to June 5

Here is where this store will do its part toward lessening the cost of living. We have gone completely through our stocks and selected therefrom numerous articles that sell regularly at much higher prices and marked them so that you can buy them for a fraction of their real worth.

Mid Season Sale of Rugs

The range of styles and colorings is broad and varied and includes the most artistic designs in floral and conventional patterns. All the best makers are represented in this gathering. The quality must be right or you would not find it here. The Manufacturers of Rugs and Carpets the country over are advancing the prices of their products. These advances are caused by the scarcity of dye stuffs and wools which cannot be imported on account of conditions in Europe. In spite of these advances we are in position to sell you your rugs for less than last season's price. We bought them for less than they are worth and pass them on to you the same way.

Mid Season Sale of Remnants

A Remnant sale here means much to the frugal and careful home woman—or the woman who appreciates the procuring of useful raiments and merchandise of worthy character in every instance less than the cost of the raw material. It is our occasional riddance of all short pieces, odd lots and discontinued numbers that have accumulated during the Spring Season. You will find remnants of Carpets, Mattings, Linoleums, Table Linens, Wash Goods, Silks, Curtain Materials, Dress Goods, Laces, Embroideries, Etc. This Mid Season Sale of Remnants includes every department in the store. The earlier you come the better values you will secure.

You ladies who appreciate distinctiveness and want your new Lace Curtains to embody this much desired feature are sure to find enjoyment in making your selection here now, to say nothing of the further added pleasure of buying them when you can save so much on their purchase. You will not fully realize how low our prices are until you see what fine quality goods we are showing. You will find hundreds of pairs of curtains at half price and less.

Mid Season Sale of Cloaks and Suits
